I am a Software Engineer, graduated from the School of Engineering (University of the Republic, Montevideo - Uruguay), with almost 20 years of experience in several technologies related to web and mobile development and solid theoretical and practical knowledge.

I consider myself, first of all, someone responsible and professional, a person with initiative, dedicated, creative, and perfectionist in what I do. I learn things easily, I perform perfectly alone, and I adapt very well to group work. What I like most is designing and developing systems that are good solutions for the needs of people, using the latest technologies.

I learned to program in a self-taught way when I was 15, when they gave me my first computer for my birthday. But since I was 12, I knew that this career was going to be my vocation and my favorite pastime.
